We publish, for the benefit of the Louisville Journal, the comments of the Cincinnati Gazette on the papers of Louisville. The Gazette is the organ of those in this State who assume to be par excellence Union men, who, as the Pharaisee, thank God that they are "not as other men are." The Journal doesn't suit them. They are few in number, but active and confident, and control conventions of their own getting up. They would, perhaps, get between five and ten thousand votes in Kentucky, not more. They did, in a great measure, control the Convention here in Louis ville. The Gazette represents them exactly. The Gazette slanders the Journal somewhat and us altogether. It is just such an account as has never been loyal, according to the same authority. The truth is, Kentucky is the most loyal State to-day in the Union. No one of the has had the temptations to seduce her the short of the state have no organ through which they can advocate their views, and hence, are compelled to resort to your friendly columns, as a means of reaching the attention of their brethren. I propose, sirs, to notice briefly the course of certain prominent to make the propose of the pro we should expect from that quarter. Kentucky into rebellion. Party animosity comes in to aid the Gazette's patriotism. No wonder it is intense. It is natural it should be. It would be strange if it were not. The editor can't see that his party projects wrapped up in this war detract at all from its merits. They are all one to him. Those who are apposing his party policy are opposing the war. Very natural conclusion for the mere partisan which the Gazette is. The editor concludes that demunciations of the Administration and its party prompt men to rebelling the project of the loyal men of this State. They know all about the party schemes of the men in power. They know it, whether the papers tell them or not. They can't be cheated on that point; but their attachment to the old Constitution and to the old Government is not believed that point; but their attachment to the old Constitution and to the old Government is not believed to the power and advented by R. What Kentucky wants is the right to discuss this policy of the war, and to change it, so as to make it stronger and make it effective. Our sons and brothers are in this contest to put down the rebellion. What we want is not to unite our enemies, multiply their numbers and inspire them with the courage of despair. We don't want the dangers and sufferings of the soldier to be rendered interminable or useless by a wrong policy. The Gazette might understand Kentucky if it would, but its party zeal is too blind.

The Gazette has a small party in this State who seek the Gazette and Commercial as their organs of communication to the public. They are about as numerous as the Secession party in Kentucky. The latter is composed of men who would join the rebels if they could, who desire their success, and omit no opportunity change in the position of Kentucky; but, perhans, there are enough of them to give the Ga zette's Union men a pretty tight race if the

They don't intend to surrender to the rebellion—not one of them that we know of. They want a policy of the war that will not lead to such surrender now or hereafter. That is all, We don't intend that these Union men shall surrender to the rebellion, or get into a trap, when they will be compelled to surrender. It seems Mr. Crittenden will not do. He did not vole men and money: and yet Mr. Mallory will do, did he vote men and money? He is in the same boat with Mr. Crittenden, and we don't see how these Union men can throw Mr. Brittenden overboard and support Mr. Mallory. They understand how it is, perhaps, we don't tenden overboard and support Mr. Mallory. They understand how it is, perhaps, we don't. Remember, we don't charge that these gentlemen meant to surrender to the rebellion, because they did not vote for the appropriation bill or the conscription bill. the Louisville Journal, and sets us down as a rebel. Well, we are a rebel against all such Union men as he is. They are doing more lamage to the Union cause in this State than Jeff. Davis and all his force could do.

We find in the Cincinnati Gazette another letter about Mr. Crittenden. The reader will see after awhile why we got off that train. Here is an element of the Union party that is aspiring to control it, and it is able to control conventions and nominations. We shall not submit to them or tolerate them, act, or procure the services of some efficient person in nor have anything to do with candidates that of the sent them. [Correspondence Cincinnati Commercial.] LEXINGTON, April 25.

EDS. COM .- You are aware that the Union nent firen in Kentucky, who are endeavoring lamation, suddenly found that their patriotism and Unionism was gone. They had not been rebels, and rebel doctrine was strauge to them. Rebels' ways were crooked paths, in which their feet were unused to walking. They concluded that the Union road did not run in their feet were unused to make a new path for their feet, not quite rebel, yet not Union; but between the two they went vigorously towork, enunciating their doctrine, arranging their platforms, and selecting their candidate for Governor. They determined to abuse the Administration, denounce the President as an incompetent, oppose every measure passed by Congress, favor a Mississippi Convention, affiliate as much as possible with, the butternuts of the North, and elect with the butternuts of the North and the Dournal is not so blind as not to know that if the Democratic leaders in Ohio had the Dournal is not so blind as not to know that if the Democratic leaders in Ohio had the Dournal is not so blind as not to know that if the Democratic leaders in Ohio had the Dournal is not so blind as not to know that if the Democratic leaders in Ohio had the Dournal is not so blind as not to know that if the Democratic leaders in Ohio had the Dournal is not so blind as not to know that if the Democratic leaders in Ohio had the Dournal is not so blind as not to know that if the Democratic leaders in Ohio had the Dournal is not so blind as not to know that if the began to look about for a Crongress-Mr. Crittenden had voted against men and money while in Congress, and witho consulting the leading Union men of the district; and in consideration of Mr. Critte den's distinguished services in helping to stop the war by tying the hands of the Presi-dent, they announced him as a candidate for Congress. The Union men of the district, not being in favor of suck a policy as Mr. not being in layor of suct a policy as Mr. Crittenden had pursued, began to call a convention, through their county meetings. Whereupon, Sir Oracle Wickliffe, of the Observer and Reporter, informs the Union party that, in his distinguished opinion, no convention was needed. I suppose he, being Secretary of State, as well as editor of a middle-road newspaper, thought he had a right to think paying no attention to Sir Oracle's wise sayings, continued calling a convention and appointing delegates pledged to vote against any man who was opposed to voting men and money, In the meantime, Mr. Mailory is an nounced for Congress in the Louisville Dis-trict. In a few days afterward another middleroad man announces himself as a candidate, in opposition to Mallory—Mr. Wolfe, when our wise friend of the Observer immediately sees the necessity of a convention, to get Mr. Mallory off the track. Mr.

wolfe is a new man, therefore he ought to be the candidate. Mr. Critienden is an old Congressman, therefore, he ought to be the candidate. It is very strange to us, who are Union men, how such logic is consistent; but we suppose that if we would tread the ways of that middle road which, as it proceeds wets negare and nearer to the broad ceeds, gets nearer and nearer to the broad road to destruction, which the secesh are traveling, we could see this consistency. Or, may be, if the gracie of the Objaver would condescend to teach us anew the prinown action, and that of her editors and her people, not by the notions and opinions of cutsiders; and the less of the editor of the Gazette's notions, the better for the Union cause of Kentucky.

We republish the letter of a correspondent from Lexington to the Cincinnati Commercial on Kentucky politics. He complains that the Union men of that region have no paper, and, therefore, he is indebted to the Commercial for this publication. It seems that last winter a handful of men in the Legislature left the Union party, and undertook to cut cut a new road. That handful was nearly half the Union representatives, and the other half

[From the Cincinnati Gazette.] Louisville Newspaper Controversy.

The difference between the Louisville papers—the Journal and Demoocrat—is that while both denounce the Government as violating, subverting, setting aside and destroy-ing the Constitution, and as prosecuting the war for unconstitutional means and for un-constitutional purposes, and while both are using equally effective means to stir up pop-ular jealousy, disaffection and hostility against the Government and its supporters and ular jealousy, disaffection and nostiny against the Government and its supporters, and to prepare the popular mind of Kentucky for revolt—while each is doing its endeavor to this effect, the Journal hesitates at the policy this effect, the Journal hesitates at the policy congressional appropriations of of stopping Congressional appropriations of men and money to carry on the war, and, on the other hand, the Democrat more consistently advocates it.

To people outside that State it appears that nating teachings which, to the majority of the people of Kentucky, are easily accepted as rational justification for rebellion—when they are inflaming that prejudice and hatred which causes overt acts of hostility, and that, too, where such overt acts are ever impending and are ever threatening the safety of the loyal, to stop then at the policy of opposing the Government through legislative means, which, under present political conditions, would be under present political conditions, would be ould do, is stopping on a point too nice to be

Both journals have, to the extent of their ability, instigated popular malignity and prejudice against the Government, and against the people of the North who support it. This is the process that makes over rebels against the Government. The hostility of the Kentucky delegation in Congress could do little. Both journals are equally mischievous in mat-ter. The Democrat is consistent in not stop-ping at the mint rue and cummin of legislative tion to the Government where it is ac opposition to the Government where it is active in the weightier matter of exciting effective hostility among the people. The Journal is probably more mischievous in effect because it had loyal readers to work upon.

But while the Journal refuses to advocate the policy of stopping the war supplies, it ostentationsly applauds the Democratic party in Ohio, which is under the lead of men who declare any war to sustain the Governme unconstitutional, and that the real genui Democracy were never at heart for the wa and that if the war leads to Union it will lead to an unmitigated despotism, and that there-fore they would stop it on any terms; and who boast that they have never voted a man or a dollar to support the war.

The Journal makes a forlorn virtue of refusing to come to the policy of stopping supplies, but it announces the identity of the "Union men of Kentucky" with the copperheads of Ohio, who never voted supplies, and declare they never will; and it declares that "what-ever differences may appear are merely inci-dental, growing out of the different conditions They under which the two are battling against the Kentucky Politics.

To the Editor of the Cincinnati Gazette : Inclosed please find a copy of the Observer and Reporter of April 22, 1863, which exhibits on its editorial page Joshua F. Bell for Gov ernor, and the balance of the nominees at the late Union Convention held at Louisville, Ky. Congress, thereby conveying the impres to those unacquainted with the facts, Crittenden was also the nominee of that Convention; but those acquainted with the facts only look on it as a pious fraud of the editor's, having for its object the familiarizing of the public mind with Crittenden's name for tary of State, as well as editor of a middle-road newspaper, thought he had a right to think for the Union men of the district. But they, paying no attention to Sir Oracle's wise sayings, continued calling a convention and applied to the convention to the conventi Louisville Convention, has become an uncom promising enemy of conventions. Conven-tions are, in the estimation of these tricksters wery good things; but as soon as they (for their matpractice) lost their control of them, then they denounce them. You have doubtless observed this editor, like his model, "the editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer," indicates his politics by his "quotations," without becoming personally responsible. In this way he can abuse the Administration and anything connected with it, and still claim to be loyal. See his quotation from the Louisville Democrat (an avowedly disloyal paper) on the subject of conventions, as follows:

'Conventions.—These times (says the Louisville Democrat) we don't see the ment of Conventions to nominate candidates. These assemblies have, perhaps, done good in their day; but they have also done a great deal of harm. It is generally not difficult to find a candidate—"[See paper for the balance]

In making the above quotation the editor of the Observer and Reporter seems to forget that he is virtually condemning all of his previous sentiments and practice. The truth is, as marked, that conventions were just the thing, as lorg as he and his clique could them. Their only hope to again get the man-agement is to cry down conventions and praise the propriety of making amouncements of the favorites and writing culogies on them, of the layorites and writing enloyers on them, such as you see on the editorial page, of Hon. Nat. Wolfe—doubtless in due time, all of those distinguished gentlemen, who, in company with the Hon. Nat. Wolfe, Underwood & Co., presented that magnificent gold-headed cane to R. A. Buckner, will be regularly announced, for their several offices, provided those conventions can be discountenanced and put ventions can be discountenanced and put editor manifests great horror at the bare idea of a convention sitting in judgment on the claims of Crittenden, Wolfe, and his other pets, and seems to forget the fact that if his eulogies are correct in regard to these gentiemen, that he need not fear from the ac-tion of the proposed convention. It is be-lieved that Crittenden's claims are ostensibly brought forward so as to run him against any other favorita the convention was now here cher favorite the convention may have, horing if they do, that Crittenden's popularity

Great Success of General Banks in the Teche Country-His Progress to Opelousas-Battles Fought at Bethel Place and Vermillion Bayou-Defeat of the Rebels-Another Victory Won by General Grover-Over 1,500 Pris-

The United States steamer Fulton, from New Orleans and Key West, arrived at New York on Sunday. She left New Orleans on the 9th, but grounding in the Mississippi was detained nine days, and did not leave the bar until the 19th. New Orleans papers of that when journals are exciting hostility to the Government in every way in which it can be effective—when they are continually disseminating teachings which, to the mojority of the the Teche country, which will be found

We are in possession of certain information with reference to the long-cherished designs of the enemy. They had proposed sending the gunboat Hart down the Teche, together with the Picayune, her transport. On the Cahawba they were about sending the Marietta and the B. L. Hedge. From the Red river the Queen of the West, the Webb, the W. Roberts, the Grand Duke, and the Roebuck were to come. Two rams building at Shreveport they were to send, if finished. One of them, half solid, built purposely for butting, was to come round by way of the Mississippi and attack the boats at New Orleans. Those on the Teche were to come directly down that bayou to Brashear City. Those on the Cahawba and the Red river were to come down the Atchafalaya to the same point, and, after its capture, to go around by the Balize and another route to New Orleans. The latest news from the front of our army on the Teche is of the same encouraging character as heretofore. On Friday night General Banks reached Vermillionville, previous to which, however, a sanguinary and spirited fight took place at the crossing of Vermillion Bayou, a short distance this side of the village. Bayou, a short distance this side of the village. At this place the rebels posted a force of over one thousand infantry and strong batteries of artillery in ambush. Fire was opened upon the advance of General Banks' army from the whole force of the enemy. The fight raged furiously for some time, but resulted finally, after considerable loss on both sides, in the giving way of the retels and the crossing of our groups.

It was reported last night that Gen. Banks would undoubtedly be in Opelousas by tonight, with his whole army.

the main body drove him from the earthworks below.

Early on Sunday morning, the 12th inst., the whole division embarked on board the gunboats Calhoun, Clifton, Estrella and Arizona, and the transports St. Mary, Laurel Hill, Quinebaug, Southern Merchant and Segur.

Proceeding up the bay, through Grand Lake Pass and Grand Lake, by a cross bayou, they reached Irish Bend, on the Teche, a bend like that of an ox-yeke, about three miles west of As the army advanced they came up with a force under Gen. Grover, which had been engaged in a desperate fight, which is described. It was in Gen. Grover's engagement that most of the prisoners were taken. Our forces have captured over five hundred ead of horses, mules, and cattle, which are of acalculable value to the captors at this juncthat of an ox yoke, about three miles west o that of an ex-yeke, about three miles west of Franklin.

This expedition of General Banks up the Teche country, so far, has proved to be the most important and productive of the most satisfactory results of any that we have had to record since he has assumed the command of the Department of the Gulf. Our army is rolling like a ball of fire through the fluest portion of Louisiana. When the rebels are thoroughly driven out of the Opelousas country, the backbone of the rebellion will be very much broken, so far as this State is concerned.

[It appears from the following letter that a two days' fight had occured at the fortifications of Bethel Place previous to the events narrated. Of these two days' operations we have yet received no account.—Ed. Times.]

April 17, 1863. At half-past eleven o'clock, on the night of the 13th inst., Colonel Kimball, of the Fifty-third Massachusetts, heard the enemy making preparations for evacuating his intrenchments. The moving of the artillery and baggage wagons, packing and mailing of boxes, and drivers cursing their mules, could be distinctly heard by the advanced pickets of Colonel Cooding's brigade, Colonel Kimball immediately notified Colonel Cooding of the fact, and he in turn sent word to Major-General Ranks. Sanks.

No special movement was made in pursuit of the enemy until early the next morning, when General Emory ordered a portion of his command to fire into the breastworks, to make sure that they were evacuated. But at this ime Col. Kimball had entered the works on the right, and immediately planted the national

An advance of the whole column now took place, General Weitzel's division taking the van. Upon entering the works, the scene on every hand gave the fullest evidence of bloody work the day before. There were found in the rebel works one 32-pounder smooth-bore cannon, and a fine 12-pounder rifled brass howiver. This latter, mith its caisson, was being drawn over the briage across a ditch to the rear of the works, when a solid shot from one of our 30-pounder Parrots struck the bed of the piece and threw it with the caisson into the ditch, where it now lies.

Large stores of all kinds of ammunition, and some Enfield rifles and a few small arms, were found in the works, having been abandoned by the enemy. The remnants o near the cannon. In one place the earthworks near the cannon. In one place the earthworks were torn up by a bursting shell, and the earth in many places was very much plowed up by the iron missiles of death. The wildest enthusiasm prevailed among our troops as they entered this rebel stronghold. Loud cheers were given as the advancing column passed through the intrenchments, and beheld the fearful effects of the two days' struggle. The army marched on the first day to a point just above Pattersonville, where it was earned that the prisoners taken from the Diana had been sent up to Franklin.

At Pattersonville, and for a short distance beyond there, the advance was annoyed by the rear guard of the retreating enemy, consisting of 100 cavairy and three pieces of artillery.

Our van was frequently fired upon, but did not retreat out of range until the second days' march, when, at one time finding themselves out of sight of the main body, the men in front fell back, or waited until the whole force came up, when the march was resumed. The town of Franklin was reached on Wednesday. Be-lore the day was out 300 prisoners were brought in and quartered in the Courthouse. By the next night the number had increased to over 500, including whole companies, who were marched in at once. By a singular good fortune three of the officers who were taken or tune three of the officers who were taken on the Diana were recaptured at this place.

When Jeff Davis first made the proposition in the State of Louisiana that every man waveling to agait for the Confederacy should leave the State, a Mr. Smith, of Louisville, had not time enough to leave with a light draught steamer in his possession, and it was confiscated on the Ouachita. Its name was the Cornic. Since that time it has been employed to nie. Since that time it has been employed to transport rebel troops and army stores. For the last two months it was constantly em ployed in carrying salt from the mines, seven miles southward of New Iberia, to the junc miles southward of New Horria, to the junction of the Teche and Cahawba Bayons. From this point the salt has been transported to Alexandria, and by way of Red river to Vicksburg, Port Hudson and other places occupied by the rebels. On the 12th inst., early in the morning, the Cornic left New Iberia with a lot of ammunition for the rebels at Camp Bisland. Those reaching left New Iberia with a lot of ammunition for the rebels at Camp Bisland. Upon reaching that place the boat was detained to carry away the sick and wounded in case of any emergency. On the next night she received orders to get up steam and leave at one with the wounded. Accordingly seventy-five wounded, some fatally, and also as many sick men, were placed on board, and the boat left for the hospital at New Iberia. Only one surgeon was geat up with the wounded. Upon reaching Franklin, orders were given to burn and destroy all the boats. The sick could not be removed, so a hospital flag was raised and an attempt made to poss General Grover's command. After going a mile and a half above Franklin, the Cornie met the Diana, and was ordered to return to Franklin, land and was ordered to return to Franklin, land the wounded and burn the boat. On reaching that place, Lieutenant Allen, of General Weit zel's staff, a wounded prisoner from the Diana, stepped up to the Captain and demanded its surrender. "Take charge of her, sir, and hoist your flag on her," was the only and immediate reply.

Thursday, the day set apart by the President of the United States for national humiliation, fasting and prayer, was very generally observed in this city. Divine service was held in the respective churches, and nearly all houses of business were closed. The day presented the appearance of the holy Sabbath, and a deep sense of its solemn char acter seemed to pervade the entire community. We trust that the earnest supplications which, on Thursday, went up from the sanctuary throughout our distracted land, will soon be answered by the return of peace and unity to the bleeding nation.

In our notice of the affair that took place on Wednesday last, near Meadev ille, between a lot of Federal and rebel cavalry, we omitted to state that the forces who killed and captured the whole rebel forces were Capt. Hare and his company of Kentucky cavairy. We have since learned that there were others killed in the fight whose names are not mentioned. James Gorsuch was shot in the head while within twenty feet of Capt. Hare by a member of the cavalry company, all of whom behaved with great gallantry. A number of letters were found on the persons of

[From the Journal and Messenger, a religious paper of Cincinnati.] Cure for Dyspepsia,

Ms. Editor: I feel it due to those who are suffering from dyspepsia to state a remedy, which I have been advised to use, and which has effected a cure. I was afflicted with the unpleasant consequences of indiges-tion last winter and spring, till my health was despaired I have been an opposer to patent medicines gener ally, but was induced to use "Dr. Roback's Stomach Bitters," manufactured in your city. One bottle has relieved me of all those symptoms, and I can now grati fy a good appetite upon the luxuries of this bountiful season, without experiencing the exceedingly unpleasant effects which eating even light food caused me a few hose diseases of the stemach for which it is recommended. I write this without the knowledge of Doctor oback or any one concerned, and do it first of all fo he good of those suffering from indigestion and its sin fred results.

We know the writer of the above, and that he swhat ac professes to be—a minister and a gentleman of truth.

IMPROVED FOR 1863. LOUISVILLE, NASHVILLE, THE ONLY PERFECT COMBINED MACHINE IN USE

Having Two Distinct Motions,

A Slow Motion to the Sickle in Reaping, A Fast Motion to the Knife in Mowing. BY THIS IMPROVEMENT WE ENTIRELY AVOID THE GREAT DIFFICULTY HERETOFORE FOUND in all Combined Machines having but the speed, which is too rapid for reaping and too slow for mowing. The cutting apparatus of the Harves'er has been so changed and improved for 1863 that we will warrant it to mov where any other machine ever did or can move.

We have also placed a Spring Seat on our Machine for the driver, which gives him greater command over his team and machine, as well as perfect ease, security and comfort in driving. These improvements make this Machine the very perfection of a combination, doing perfectly the work of two machines.

Price, Including Doubletree, Neckyoke, &c., Complete, $150 Cash. THE KENTUCKY BROAD GAUGE REAPER, CUTS A SWATH SEVEN FEET WIDE.

This Machine is only intended for Reaping, and was introduced by us in 1800, and is a complete success. It is designed for the use of very large grain growers, and is capable of cutting from 20 to 25 acres of any kind rain per day with easier. Price at Louisville, $120, Cash.

THE KENTUCKY CLIPPER, A TWO WHEEL IRON MOWER.

The KENTUCKY CLIPPER, as arranged, strengthened, and Improved, for 1863, presents the most complete, the durable, and compact Mowing Machine ever invented, and we will warrant its Mowing qualities equal to ose of any other Machine in use.

Among the points of excellence in this machine may be enumerated:

First—It has two independent driving wheels, both drivers (vet with but one set of gear). The wheels are the coupled to the shaft by a pawl and ratchet, so that in backing the machine is alwa, so out of gear, yet when oving forward may be thrown in or out of gear at pleasure.

Second—The cutter-bar is jointed or hinged so as to readily adjust itself to uneven surfaces, and is easily used by means of a lever, to pass over obstructions. It may also be raised and folded over in rear of the frame. Third—The entire machine, with the exception of the to gue, is made of iron and steel, yet very light, weighgless than 600 pounds. Width of swath, four feet three inches.

PRICE AT THE FACTORY, $100, CASH. GENTLEMSN—I have tried your Kentuchy Clipper in the same field with a "Buckeye," cutting clover and notiny. The ground was very rough, and consequently ne ther machine could cut very close; but there was a st difference between the cut of the Buckeye and the cut of the Clipper. The Clipper's work was at least senty the per cent. Whe best. The Buckeye can cut slittle more than the Clipper for two reasons, viz. It cuts little wider (but very little), and the team is convelled to vealk finiter to make it cut of all; but while I was in a field with the Clipper, I cut the most, for the Buckeye was detained for repairs, and this is the great difficulty ith the Buckeye—it is so constructed that it must shatter to pieces in two seasons. I am perfectly satisfied I could rather have the Clipper at the same price. I do not think that the draft of the Clipper is much more than all that of the Buckeye.

WASHINGTON, May 1. By mail to New York, and from the bes attainable authority from persons arriving from the Rappahannock, it appears that some important movements took place yesterday. There was no fighting of importance. The force crossed at Lillis' ford on pont on bridges, and were said to be two or three miles below Fredericksburg. We held posses sion of the pontoons. Last night the enemy formed lines of battle, planted batteries on the heights in heir rear, and also fired a few shots to get the range in crossing. We lost one or two officers killed, and from thirty to forty men wounded. Our men crossed first in boats, in wounded. Our men crossed first in boats, in order to deceive the enemy and get them out of their rifle pits. We killed and weunded a great many, and took 106 prisoners, including several officers; one of whom was Lieutenant Colonel Hamilton, of the Sixth Louisiana. These prisoners arrived here yesterday, and were sent to the old capitol prison. Another informant cays the the left wing, 35,000 strong, crossed four miles below Fredericksburg, a little below where Franklin crossed previous to the first battle of Fredrossed previous to the first battle of Fred ericksburg.

They fought twelve hours and drove the enemy eight miles out of their riffe-pits and behind their intrenchments. The Third brigade of the First division of the First corps has suffered more than any other in the fight. Our forces have captured between 500 and 600 prisoners, who will soon be through to this

Many of these prisoners have voluntarily come over to us, having thrown away their arms in small squads and begged food. They pick up what the soldiers have thrown away on the march. Other rebels, however, say they have plenty to cat.

The right wing crossed at Kelly's ford, and General strongens, careful is a reported, and

WASHINGTON, May 1.

The National Republican of this afternoon published some official dispatches from Gen. Banks, dated near St. Martinsville, April 17th, from which it appears that when he left Baton Rouge three regiments of colored troops re-mained for its defense. The results among those of Gen. Banks' expedition are—a march of over three hundred miles, beating the enemy in three battles, two on land and one on Grand Lake, dispersing the rebel army, utterly destroying the rebel navy, capturing the foundries of the enemy at Franklin and New Ibatic and demelicible. Iberia and demolishing the salt works ten miles southwest of the latter place, capturing the camp equipage of the enemy; also several guns and nearly two thousand prisoners, and so deranging the plans of the rebels that they cannot for some months reorganize. Other successes of General Banks, already known to the public, are mentioned. Our loss in the two land battles was about six or seven hundred. Nothing could exceed the conduct of the officers and privates in Banks' command.

The dispatches say we have not only destroyed the army and navy of the enemy, and captured his materials for reorganization, but we have also in our possession his ablest officers of the sea and land.

PITTSBURG, May 1. Great excitement here to day in consequen of reports from Morgantown.

General Howe received a letter from Major Showalter, stating that the rebels had defeated Colonel Mulligan at Fairmont and were returning to Morgantown in force, having received re-enforcements from Beverly. A letter from Colonel Olphant confirmed this re po t, stating that unless re-enforcements were pot, statug that unless re-enforcements were immediately sent from here his whole district would be at the mercy of the enemy.

A meeting was held at Gen. Holmes' office, at which Governor Pierpoint, of Virginia, Senator Willey, Col. Cross, commander of the post here, and several of the most influential citizens were present. After earnest discussion, it was decided that nothing could be done for want of proper authority.

The 10 o'clock train from Morgantown today brought sergeant Boston, one of the scouts sent out by Capt. Wright, who went as far as Morgantown. He reports the rebels as numbering 4,000.

"We have no dispatches relative to the move ments of our army beyond the Rappahannock, but we are able to assure our readers that every thing is going favorably in Gen. Hooker's army.
"Later.—We learn, though not from an

The sale of 5-20 bonds at the various agencies to-day reached five million dollars. From a careful average made by Mr. Jay Cooke, the Subscription Agent, it is estimated that over five thousand individual subscriptions have been made throughout the land to-day including the averall arount of the Indusday, including the small amount of the industrial classes, as well as the larger amounts of capitalists and Cabinet Ministers.

New York, May 1. The Tribune has a letter from near Vicksburg, stating that only one of the transports, the Tigress, was sunk in passing the rebel batteries on the 23d, and she was beached below, near our works. Her officers and crew all escaped. The other five got by safely. The Tribune consebuently says the report that four were sunk and two driven back is natrue.

-A correspondent of the Missouri Demo rat, writing from Cape Girardeau on the 26th ult., in regard to the expedition of Marmaduke from Arkansas into Missouri, which the rebels thought would be a brilliant affair, but part to be paid to the writer of the pass in balance rewards the support of his family which was summarily cut short by Gen. Vanwhich was summarly cut shore by Gen. Yandever, says that the result has been one of shame and disgrace to Marmaduke. In addition to plundering and destroying the country through which he passed, he has accomplish ed nothing; but, on the contrary, has lost fully one-fourth of his command. He has succeeded in moving off over one hundred and fifty wagon loads of wares of one character and another, and is endeavoring to move off himself. I expressed my sorrow that I had no money about me, himself. If he succeeds in escaping the pur-

nd Johnston has certainly been heavily re enforced within a few days past, and there are indications that Gen. Rosecrans will have some hot work before him ere the lapse of much more time. We are informed that Bragg and Johnston have been re-enforced by from 20,000 to 25,000 men from Virginia, The whole rolling stock on the Virginia and East Tennessee, as well as that on the Richmond and Atlanta, railroad is reported as having been employed in the transportation of troops. This report, however, may be received with many grains of allowance. The rebels are reported as being on very short rations

-The Richmond Enquirer of the 20th ult. says that it has reasons for believing that Gen. Hooker designs changing his base of operations from Fredericksburg to the White House and that, if not held to his present position by some threatening demonstration of Gen. Lec. in a few days the enemy will be found ascending the York river.

-We have had during the past ten days numerous contradictory statements as to the movements of General Hooker's army. It is now, we believe, reliably stated that the gallant army of the Potomac is really on the move towards Richmond. On Wednesday four corps of the army crossed the Rappahannock at Port Royal, which is thirty miles below Fredericksburg and forthy-five miles from Richmond. It is stated that, if Hooker shall get his entire army over the Rappahannock prices on each occasion for his tobacco offered unobserved, he will march direct to the on the same day in our market. We congrat-White House on the Pamunky river, thence move in between Lee and Richmond, thus compelling the rebel leader to fight outside of his fortifications. We may expect interesting news from Virginia, for Hooker now evidently means to fight.

-A corresponde at of the Commercial writ ing fr om Millikens Bend, Louisiana, on the 23d ult., says:

The situation at New Carthage remains as when I last wrote. The troops have not yet commenced crossing the river, I believe, alcommenced crossing the river, I believe, although there are camp-rumors to the effect that one division has reached the Mississippi side. A few of the gunboats have gone below Natchez to blockade the mouth of Redriver, and cut off the rebel supplies from that region. It will require a good deal of vigilance on the part of our naval officers to accomplish this desirable result, as there are a number of points at which, it is said, the rebels can swim a thousand head of cattle perels can swim a thousand head of cattle per els can swim a thousand head of cattle day across. Our troops below Vicksburg are living on rations sent down in barges and transports on the night of the 17th. Ten days subsistence for twenty-five thousand men was started down, and, of this, one fourth was de-stroyed by the loss of the Henry Clay and the injuries sustained by the Forest Queen.

-The news from Europe is as late as April 19th, from which we learn that the new English-rebel privateer Virginia, which has gone to sea from a British port, to pray upon our commerce, is described as a formidable vessel, heavily armed. The Polish rebellion still rages, the Russian Czar's offer of amnesty having been rejected. France, England and Austria have taken sides against Russia, and we shall not be surprised to hear of a general European war in consequence.

A FIGHT NEAR MEADEVILLE, KY .- It has been known in military circles in this city that for some time past a party of rebels have been threatening Brandenburg, Ky. A force of Federal cavalry was sent in search of them, and on Wednesday they encountered the rebels at or near Meadeville, Ky. A brisk little fight took place, during which Jim Gorsuch, of this city, Wm. Shacklett, John Wimp, John Garrett, and three others were killed. Dan. Morgan Shacklett was taken prisoner. The balance ran in fine style. The Federal force met with little or no loss.

The Chattanooga Rebel of the 25th says one Yankee transport lies sunk to the hurricane roof, five miles below Vicksburg. facts in the case of Mr. A. Salinger, of Phila delphia, who has been made the victim of a gross outrage in this city, which clearly appears from the account as here detailed: Editors of the Louisville Democrat:

Bailors of the Louisville Democrat:

On the 24th of February I caye to the Croghan House in this city, with the intention of waiting for goods, which I expected to take to Nashville—having previously obtained a permit from the Board of Trade and with the military authorities of that place. I roomed with two merchants from Franklin, Kentucky, telling them that I had notions to sell, and was agent for the same. After a small purchase, they ordered fifty thousand needles. Before the goods arrived they left without permit or goods. The goods arrived from Philadelphia, my place of residence: I tried to get a pass to take them as intended, but could get none on account of an order from General Rosecrans, permitting none but-residents of Nashville to go thither. Thus having the goods on hand. I determined to sell them here, and got nearly through, when, on the evening of the 1st inst., a man called at my room and introduced himself as Kinstler, whom I previously met at Gen. Boyle's office, where I had been to get a pass. He said a friend sent him, desiring to do me a favor, and handed me a pass. As I wanted none at the time I told him the goods intended for Nashville were nearly sold. He insisted I should take it, saying I might still use it. Looking at it I found it to be for Franklin, Ky. I told him it was not the kind I wanted. Thinking it a strange procoeding, I asked him if it did not mean a conspiracy or some trap to invelgle me. He assured me that there was no such an idea; asked me if I was a Free Mason; gave me the sign, which I having answered he then told me that he sent a great many goods to the South and could help me do the same. I replied I had none for the rebels, and if I had I would see them in h—Il before I would sell to them, and that if it was not for the above order of needles I should be ready to go home. He tatked considerably in that strain, and finally asked for ten or five dollars—part to be paid to the writer of the pass and the balance towards the support of his family, which balance towards the support of his family, whe declared was very poor, and this was his himself. If he succeeds in escaping the pursuit of Gens. Vandever and McNcil he will have accomplished the object of his expedition—that of successful robbery. He did not come to fight, but to steal. The impudence of his demand for a surrender of Cape Girardeau is only equaled by the foolishness of his entrance into the State. If permitted he will return from whence he came a wiser if not a better man.

—The rebel army in Tennessee under Bragg and Johnston has certainly been heavily re my inc.

Capt. Jones, of Gen. Boyle's staff, when hearing the facts in the case, told me that the case had been largely exaggerated to him, and that he was sorry that I had been so badly treated, and sent me to Col. CROGHAN HOUSE, LOUISVILLE, KY., April 25, 180 INDIANA TOBACCO.-We should think it very decided inducement to our Indiana friends to cultivate and handle their tobacco crop properly, when we state that for three consecutive years Mr. Joseph Bruner, of Mar tin county, Indiana, has realized the highest ulate Mr. Bruner on his success, and hop that this year he will compete for a premi um at the great tobacco exhibition on the 27th instant and prove successful. Mr. Bruner is from Virginia originally, and Messrs, Glover & Co. inform us that his mode of handling tobacco is equal to the best which comes to HAYING BEEN APPOINTED BY THE AGENT OF the Treasury, I am prepared to supply those wishing to invest in six per cent. Government Bonds. These bonds are called "Five Twenties" because, while they are twenty year bonds, the Government may redeen them in Gold at any time after five years. Many suppose that the interest is only 5 2-100 per cent. This is a mistake; they bear six, per cent, interest, and are payable, interest and principal, in Gold.

Some are Coupon Bonds, payable to bearer, in 30°s, 30°s, and 100°s. Others are Registered Bonds, payable to 6. deer, in 50°s, 100°s, 500°s, 5,000°s, and 10,100°s.
